Sparkling lightning and thunder as loud as a cannonade broke rain from moisture-laden clouds early Saturday morning, bringing amounts around an inch to Canyon.

More rain Monday night helped water the grass and flowers in the city. The Saturday rain measured 1.06 inches in the west end of town and .96 of an inch in the east end. The Monday moisture totaled .22 of an inch.

The storm Saturday morning drifted in over Canyon about 4 a. m. and set in the area for a half-hour, awakening almost everyone as the lightning played steadily. The loud claps of thunder rumbled almost constantly.

It followed a lighter thunderstorm about bedtime Friday night. The shower Monday night was also accompanied by thunder and lightning.

Only light damage was reported from the ripping Saturday storm. A fire alarm was sounded near the end of the storm for a reported fire at Curly Myer's farm from the lightning.

A bolt struck a tree at Third Avenue and 15th Street, peeling the bark from one side of the trunk.

Those visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Hammons last week were Vera and Donna Fell and Benita Thatcher from Kit Carson, Colo.

Lightning struck this tree Saturday morning, stripping the bark from the east side of the trunk and leaving the bark on the west side. The tree is located at Third Avenue and 15th Street.

Lions' Carnival Set July 27, 28

Booths for skill and luck, rides for the kiddies and a dunking board for the use of Elvis Presley fans have been promised for the Second Annual Lions Club Carnival July 27 and 28 on the courthouse square in Canyon.

Some 15 booths in addition to the dunking board and kiddie rides are expected. Invitations have been sent to other organizations in Canyon to join in the carnival. The Lions Club requires that any booths set up by other organizations must be for raising money for a worthy cause.

Other organizations which might wish to join the carnival should contact Clark Jarnagin, chairman of the steering committee for the carnival.

The carnival will open on the evening of July 27 and will be open again from the early afternoon until night on Saturday. The Canyon News election results chart will be kept during election night, while the carnival is running on the square.

The Lions plan to serve home-made ice cream, hamburgers and other refreshments from booths. Elvis Presley fans will be able to vent their feelings against Anti-Presley Editor Bill Cherry Saturday afternoon at the dunking board. Other popular figures around Canyon will be on the dunking board during other parts of the carnival.

Proceeds from booths and attractions operated by the Lions Club in the carnival will go toward providing lighting and equipment for softball diamond in Conner Park.

PFC William Rice Marine of Month

Marine P. F. C. William Rice, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Rice, was selected Marine of the Month for the Waikale Branch of the Marine Barracks at San Francisco.

In a letter from his commanding officer, Rice was told, "Your selection was based on your ability to perform the tasks assigned to you in an exemplary manner. Your attention to duty, neatness and military bearing, and devotion to the Marine Corps have been outstanding. You have set an example for others to follow, and have typified what is desired in a marine today."

Indian Ceremony Moved

Park Vandalism Draws $100 Fine

Several instances of vandalism at the city swimming pool in Conner Park recently has caused city officials to issue a warning against them.

A maximum fine of $100 has been set for vandalism at the park. In recent weeks, someone has thrown considerable trash, beer cans and even a dead dog into the swimming pool during the night.

When foreign matter such as dead animals is thrown into the pool, the water must be drained before the pool is used again.

Jessie Fisher Is Taken by Death

Miss Jessie C. Fisher, 67, daughter of a pioneer Wayside couple and a former missionary to India, died in Shamrock General Hospital at 5:30 p. m. Thursday.

Funeral services were held in the Wayside Community Church at 4 p. m. Saturday. The Rev. E. R. Foster of Amarillo officiated with Warren-LaGrone Funeral Chapel directing burial in the Wayside Cemetery. Pallbearers were Curtis McGehee, Wyatt Heisler, Will Franklin, Charles Cannedy, Milton McGehee and Floyd Adams.

Miss Fisher was born in Fort Worth on March 14, 1889. When she was a child, her family moved to the Wayside community on the west side of Palo Duro Canyon in Armstrong County. She was sent to India by the Missionary Bands of the World, a non-sectarian organization, in 1909 and served there until her retirement in 1952.

Since her return to the United States, she has made her home with a sister, Mrs. Sybil Willis, in the Briscoe community in Wheeler County.

In addition to Mrs. Willis, she is survived by two other sisters, Mrs. Henrietta Johnston of Greenwich, Conn., and Mrs. Winifred Spenser of Springfield, Mass.; a brother, Lem Fisher of Canyon, and an uncle, W. L. Fisher of Wayside.

Dress Revue To Be Held Monday

The Randall County Dress Revue will be held on Monday, July 23, in the Farm Bureau building. The judges will be Barbara Fain, the county home demonstration agent of Armstrong County, and Mrs. Dorothea Prowell, the assistant home demonstration agent of Deaf Smith County in Hereford.

The garments are due at the building by 9 a. m. Monday and will be judged on the girls as to how it looks on her. The dress revue should take most of the day. The winner is to be announced at 3:30 p. m., and the public is invited.

Skull Appears in 'Great Big Doorstep' To Confound Mystery in BIT Play

Alas, poor Yorick, or somebody. There's a skull which has at least a central part in the season-closing comedy opening Wednesday at West Texas State College in the Branding Iron Theater.

The skull appears in "The Great Big Doorstep," hilarious family comedy which concerns a group of Cajuns who dream of a bigger house on the banks of the Mississippi. The human relic was the first piece of equipment in son Arthur's premedical education.

Directed by Dr. and Mrs. M. Blair Hart of the University of Arkansas, the comedy is the second and last production of the summer theatre season at WT. Performances are slated Wednesday, Thursday and Friday nights at 8:15.

Admission is 75 cents for adults and 50 cents for high school students and children. Reservations may be made through the WT speech department.

Complications enter the lives of the Crochet family when a "great big doorstep," a really glamorous thing, is fished from the Mississippi and placed before their shack. A driving ambition grasps the whole crew to obtain a house further down the river, a house which would be less likely to fall apart when the family is all at home. Realization of the ambition is the crux of the story.

Bellinghausen Mass Recited

Funeral mass for Gilbert Bellinghausen was said Saturday morning in Holy Name Church in Happy by the Rev. Father B. J. Benbersie.

Pallbearers were Sylvester Deitz, Leslie Backus, James Deitz, Albert Vanhouse, George Vanhouse and Paul Vanhouse. Burial was in the Holy Family Cemetery in Nazareth under direction of Warren-LaGrone Funeral Chapel.

Mr. Bellinghausen, 46, died Thursday afternoon in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Bellinghausen in Happy.

The family has lived in and around Happy for a number of years and Mr. Bellinghausen operated a farm near Happy. He had been ill for several months.

Mr. Bellinghausen was born July 24, 1909, in Rhineland, Texas.

Survivors include his wife, Theresa; his parents; and four sisters, Mrs. Earl Backus, Nazareth, and Sisters Regina Marie, Celestine Marie, and Mary Blance, all of the St. Scholastica Convent, Fort Smith, Ark.

Absentee Voting Closes July 24

Absentee voting for the July 28 Democratic Primary is running light and less than a week remains before absentee voting closes.

Late Tuesday afternoon, the county clerk's office reported 26 absentee ballots issued. Absentee balloting closes at midnight July 24. A deputy clerk has been stationed in the Amarillo tax office to issue ballots for those who live in and near South Amarillo.

Absentee ballots may be requested by mail by writing the clerk's office. Those who plan to be away from home on July 28 should request an absentee ballot in order to vote in the primary.

Junior Softball League

All-Star Game Is Batting Show

The All-Star game played Thursday night at the end of the first round of the Junior Softball League developed into a hitting exhibition instead of the anticipated pitching duel as the Purples defeated the Whites by a score of 28-18.

Sonny Pitt started on the mound for the Purples and Mike Pool was the starting pitcher for the Whites.

The Purples collected 22 hits off pitchers Pool, Jerry Richardson and Ira Bergan, while the Whites hit safely 15 times off Pitt and Dewaine Clay.

Errors afield seemed to constitute the main difference in the two teams. The winners committed only four while the Whites committed 14—seven in fielding and seven in throwing.

Leading hitters for the night were Jerry Reynolds with one homer, one triple and two doubles; Sonny Pitt, two home runs and one triple; Jerry Richardson, one triple, one single; Mike Pool, one triple, two singles; Jimmy Glenn, one triple, one single; and Ira Bergan, one double, two singles.

George Prichard collected three singles in four trips to the plate. D. Prichard hit three singles in seven times at bat and Brotherton hit three singles in six official times at bat.

The Whites received six walks and the Purples 11.

Tom Platt, Chet Reynolds and Glen Dorris coached the Whites. Jodie Mahan and Tommy Logan coached the Purples.

In the Pee-Wee game that preceded the All-Star match, the team coached by Dorris won by a score of 11-8.

Outstanding hitters of the game were McBride and Richardson, who collected two hits in three and four times at the plate respectively.

Others who hit safely in the game were Sanford, Smyre, Sheets, S. Langston, Sikes, Higgins and Hicks.

The next Pee-Wee game will be played at the earliest possible date.

Taylor and Sons Take League Lead

The second round of the double round-robin of the Junior Softball League began Monday night with Taylor-Evans winning their first game of the year by a score of 21-8 over Sternbergs.

Dewaine Clay threw a two-hitter to win the game.

John Wear hit three for four, including a grand-slam homer in the first, to aid the winners. Dick Thompson also hit three for four, with one homer in the first when one man was on. Begert hit two for three, Busted two for four, and McBride one for four.

Mike Gibson and Larry Moore hit safely for the losers.

In one of the season's hardest fought games, Taylor and Sons turned back a stubborn Foster team by a score of 20-17 in the nightcap game Monday.

The win gave Taylor and Sons an undisputed lead in the league with a season's record of four victories and one defeat, the loss being at the hands of Fosters.

During the game, the lead changed three times and the score was tied 16-16 at one point. Taylor and Sons pushed across four runs in the top of the eighth and Fosters was able to score only once in the bottom frame. It was the second game of the season to go into extra innings.

George Prichard was the big hitter for Taylor and Sons with two home runs and two singles in five trips to the plate. Holman and Gray also homered for the winners.

Fosters looked strong in collecting 13 hits off Taylor and Sons' Sonny Pitt. Darrell Fleming hit four for five including one homerun, two triples and a single. Joel Richardson hit two for five, Greiner, two for three, Jerry Richardson three for six, Pennington one for four and Kiser one for six.

For the winners, Holman hit two for six, Pitt two for three, G. Prichard four for five, McGehee two for five, Allen one for two, Kuehn two for two, Gray two for five and P. Prichard three for five.

For the league's leading hitter, George Prichard of Taylor and Sons surged ahead of Jerry Richardson of Fosters by 108 percentage points. Richardson now has 10 for 16 for a percentage of

Buffalo Stadium Is Dance Site

Moving of the Palo Duro Indian Ceremonial from Palo Duro State Park to Buffalo Stadium was announced this week by the Chamber of Commerce as ticket sales got underway. The Indian show was moved because of the prohibitive cost of preparing sites in the canyon for camping, parking and a dancing arena. The chamber hopes to be able to make enough money above expenses this year so that the ceremonial may be moved to Palo Duro canyon next year.

Tickets have been placed in 12 Canyon stores and may also be purchased from various members of the chamber. The tickets will also be available at the chamber office.

Those firms which will have tickets for sale include the First National Bank, The Pharmacy, Bellah's Supermarket, Buffalo Drug, Cooper's Market, Canyon Drug, Buffalo Food Store, K-Service Station, Taylor and Sons, B. C. Taylor Service Station, Canyon News and Cole and Moore.

Three Indians from Oklahoma, Philemon Berry, director of the show, Nelson Big Bow, his assistant, and Mrs. Big Bow, visited Canyon last week to work on arrangements for the ceremonial.

Berry outlined the program for the ceremonial, which will be held Sept. 1, 2 and 3. Included in the program is a downtown parade in Canyon beginning at 10 a. m. on Sept. 1.

The line of march for the parade will include three sections showing Indian mode of travel from the early days before the Spanish came to the Americas to the present time. Between the sections of the parade and at other intervals, bands of Indians will be dancing.

The first section of the parade will have Indians walking and dogs being used as beasts of burden pulling travois.

The second section of the parade will introduce the horse and show how the animals were used by the Indians in ceremonies, war parties, as beasts of burden and how they were used later to pull wagons.

The third section will show the automobile age with old cars and modern cars.

The afternoon shows, which begin at 2 p. m. in Buffalo Stadium, will be devoted to various Indian tribal dances and ceremonies and to Indian games.

Among those dances to be shown are the war dances of the various tribes. The war dance was typical of all the Southwestern Plains tribes. It was performed prior to going on raids against settlers and against war parties of other tribes.

The war dance has a fast rhythm and intricate steps, requiring a great deal of ability and physical condition. The war dance is used now to determine the world's champion fancy dancer in a contest each year at the American Indian Exposition in Anadarko, Okla.

Another dance scheduled during the afternoon shows is the Indian Two Step, a social dance performed by both tribal men and women. The women make the choice of partners and a leader is selected to set the pattern of the dance. All other couples must follow the leader.

At one point in the dance, all dancers make a complete turn before continuing. The partners join hands in the dance.

The name of the dance comes from the steps taken—two forward and one back.

During the afternoon shows, many Indian games will be played. One scheduled is the Kickball Contest, played by the women of the tribe.

In the game, each woman bounces a leather ball stuffed with rags on the top of one foot while skipping on the other leg. The winner of the contest is the woman who bounces the ball the greatest number of times without missing a bounce.

Other games to be played include arrow throwing contests, stick games and others played by men and by women.

The show will be the same each of the three nights of the ceremonial. The show will be a historical pageant, named "The Peace Pipe on the Prairie."

It will show the history of the Indians from early times to the present, with many tribal dances

Those Amarillo folks really get around, it seems. Only last week I saw an advertisement in the Amarillo paper for "The Most Happy Fella," showing in the Imperial Theater on West 4th Street in New York City. It was billed as "New York's Most Happy Musical."

Those theaters are not in the habit of advertising where they don't expect to get some return—which means to me that Amarillo people must do a lot of traveling back east.

How do you think you would like to be a member of the school board? At first glance it doesn't look much like a job you'd chase after. There's a lot of time and thought required, and the pay is downright non-existent. A school board member is not always the best liked person around, especially after the board makes a difficult, unpopular decision.

But, being on the school board does have one reward. It affords a person a chance to see the inside workings of a school system and there's very little monotony accompanying the job.

In last week's meeting, for instance, the school board checked and authorized payment of routine bills, wrestled with the problem of the budget for next year that is being planned now, looked over a set of regulations and policies that are being formulated to add consistency to the board's operation, accepted two teacher resignations, hired a cafeteria worker, talked about student insurance, appointed a board of equalization, looked over the list of bus drivers who will return next year and thought of who might be the new ones needed, and went into a study of the curriculum for the high school and junior high school.

High School Principal J. E. Miller and Junior High School Principal Lawrence Brotherton met with the board on the curriculum problem, and a knotty one it was, indeed.

Miller told the board that of the 79 eighth graders who will be freshmen next fall, only two had indicated they will sign up for Art I. In addition, two pupils in the 10th grade said they would take Art and three in the 11th grade.

From the eighth grade, only seven had asked for choir, only five asked for choir from the 10th grade and 10 from the 11th grade.

Three high school students had asked for solid geometry and trigonometry for next year. Miller said there will be an increase next year in the number of pupils taking the various sciences. There will be more in Algebra II and Physics classes than ever before.

So what, you might think. The implication is this, Miller said: "Within a few years we won't have any choir or any art courses."

There were between 40 and 50 in choir last year, there will be 30 or less this year. The membership in the high school choir has been dropping the past few years, Miller said. The membership in the art classes has also been dropping.

Miller thinks maybe the emphasis on art and public school music in the 6th, 7th and 8th grades might be the reason for the drop in enrollment. "The students are forced to take art and singing in the lower grades and when they have freedom of choice, they don't choose those subjects," he said.

On the other hand, the drop in enrollment might come from the present emphasis over the nation on scientific subjects, Miller said. "I think it's over-emphasis," he said. As an example, he cited the band. Pupils in junior high school have a choice on whether they will be in the band or not, as they do in high school. However, out of the 79 moving over next fall, 23 have signed up for band.

Miller also cited the use of shop in the junior high and high schools. An exploratory course is offered 8th grade boys and 22 who will be freshmen have signed up for shop courses. In fact, the enrollment in shop courses is already so high that further enrollment in the fall may have to be curtailed for lack of facilities.

Still, you might think, so what? Just what does the school board have to do with this?

One teacher in high school, Johnny Ussery, an assistant coach and speech teacher, has resigned. The public school music teacher for the junior high, Mrs. Hope Rusk, has resigned.

By shuffling loads, Miller has replaced Ussery, but has left a gap in mathematics and social sciences that he would like to have filled with one teacher who can handle both. With the resignation of Mrs. Rusk there is a gap in public school music in the junior high.

With lowered enrollment in the high school choir, the director, Miss Ada V. Clark, will have an understrength load. Would it be better to have Miss Clark handle the junior high music as well as the high school choir and ensembles—thus making an overstrength load—and filling the social sciences-mathematics gap with one teacher, or would it be better to employ another music teacher for the junior high, keep Miss Clark where she is and fill out her load with study halls, and hire another high school teacher for the gap?

Combining the public school music courses would be the cheaper method, but not necessarily the best. Or how about this for a solution—cease requiring the public school music in junior high (putting it on a voluntary basis) and thus obviating the need for a junior high teacher to replace Mrs. Rusk. By stopping the required singing, maybe more pupils would elect to take choir in high school, thus building up the high school music program and putting a full load of music on Miss Clark.

That still doesn't solve the problem of providing a mathematics-social science teacher for the high school. Just what is the best solution? These thoughts were involved in the discussion.

You can see, however, that school board members don't have time to get bored with their jobs—there's too many problems to wrestle with. Anyway, Supt. Joe Gibson provided home-made ice cream and cake for a refreshment break during the meeting.

The school board did not solve the problem, incidentally. It was held up for further study.

If you could forget about the lights, about that camera staring in your face and could remember what it was you wanted to say, appearing on television might be a lot of fun.

As hot as it has been of late, it's cooling to go by the swimming pool and watch the chattering teeth of the younger swimmers. I've wondered why it is that a grown person won't get very cold while swimming in a pool of heated water and a child will absolutely turn purple from the cold.

By the way, a late afternoon swim is awfully refreshing. The only trouble is that it will relax you so much you are apt to drop off to sleep long before your favorite early evening television program is over.—BC

Income and expense reports of candidates show Daniel, Aikin and Wilson leading in both receipts and expenditures, in their respective fields.

U. S. Sen. Price Daniel was far out in front in financial support. He listed contributions totaling $712,849. Other gubernatorial contenders' figures stacked up thusly: Reuben Setzer, $37,772; Ralph Yarborough, $23,865; W. Lee O'Daniel, $1,770.

Sen. A. M. Aikin Jr. led in the Lt. Governor's race with $19,687 in contributions, as compared with $1,125 for Lt. Gov. Ben Ramsey and $6,300 for John Lee Smith.

Will Wilson was far ahead of the pack in the attorney general's race, reporting financial support totaling $21,021.

On the expenditure side of the ledger the leaders held the same positions. In the Governor's race, Daniel spent $82,474; Setzer, $22,061; Yarborough, $25,826; and O'Daniel, $20,589.

Among the candidates for Lt. Governor, Aikin reported expenses of $12,244.82; Ramsey, $7,003; and Smith, $8,563.05.

Wilson again outdistanced his competitors in the campaign for attorney general with a total expenditure of $10,542.

Shots Cut Polio
State Health Department officials believe Salk shots enabled Texans to avert a bad polio year.

Pre-season incidence of polio, they point out, was unusually high this year — 224 cases as compared to 167 in 1955. But as the season progressed, immunization was stepped up. Since April 28 there have been only 269 cases compared to 375 in the same period last year.

"This would have been a major polio year," said one official. "Salk vaccine apparently is the answer to why it isn't."

Farm Income Off 13 Per Cent
Texas farm income thus far in 1956 has slid 13 per cent from last year.

Inadequate moisture was the major cause. Prices were off only three per cent. Therefore, most of the drop came from smaller marketings.

State officials took note of the farmers' worsening plight. Gov. Allan Shivers announced the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture has approved extension of the emergency drought feed program for 64 counties.

A request for direct payments to enable drought-hit farmers to purchase hay on the open market was turned over to the state defense and disaster relief office. It came from the Texas Farm Bureau president who said the present federal program is inadequate.

John White, state agriculture commissioner, said the state's rural economy, in many areas, is in the final stages of collapse. Ghost towns are in the making in the heart of some of our richest agricultural lands, he said.

Last week's widely scattered rain brought only temporary relief to some Southwest Texas areas, reported the Agricultural Extension Service. In most sections, said the service, drought is spreading. Result: feed crops are being lost and livestock sold off in large numbers.

Creek Damming Complaints

Continued complaints of creek damming were reported by the State Water Board last week as evidence of Texas' mounting water troubles.

One of the most critical areas now is at Llano, said the board. Irrigators were asked to limit their withdrawals from the nearby dry Llano River. Communities along the river have priority, said the board. Some, such as Junction and Llano, have said they have only a 30 to 60-day supply.

Other areas from which complaints of damming were sent to the board included Wolf Creek and Groesbeck Creek on the Red River, Blanco River in Blanton County, Caney Creek near Bay City, and Elm Creek in Milam County.

Meanwhile, the Water Board had another problem. After a 12-day recess, hearings were to resume Tuesday in the Canyon Dam controversy. San Antonio's request for water from the proposed dam is vigorously opposed by nearby rural communities.

Diplomas May Come Harder
If the State Board of Education adopts its study-committee's proposals, future diplomas will come a little harder for Texas high school students.

Suggestions included (1) two years, instead of one, of laboratory science, (2) a half unit more of government or history, (3) making physical education and health non-credit courses and (4) limiting athletic practice during school hours.

Bus Segregation Still Law
Texas citizens still have the right to file criminal complaints against anyone violating bus segregation laws.

Atty. Gen. John Ben Shepperd has reiterated his official opinion that a recent U. S. Supreme Court decision did not invalidate Texas law in this area.

"Any citizen may file a complaint against any bus driver or other person failing to comply with these laws," said Shepperd. His statement came in response to a query from Rep. Joe Pool of Dallas. There, as in several other Texas cities, enforcement efforts have been virtually abandoned since the high court ruling.

Short Shorts
A warning to future holiday motorists came from the Department of Public Safety after Texas led the nation in July 4 fatalities. Col. Homer Garrison said heavy traffic and fast driving caused Texas highway deaths to soar to 15, more than double the predicted 6.

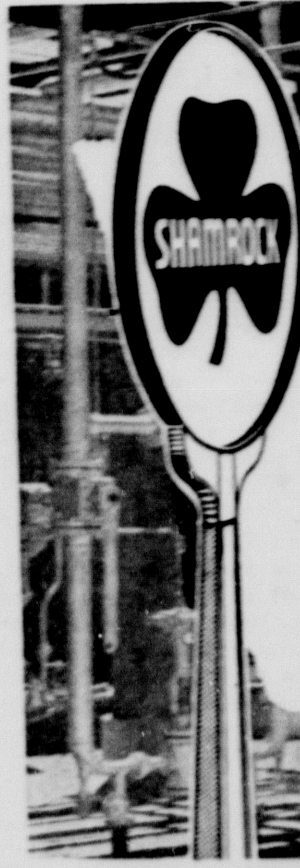

Texas' August draft call is for 639 men, compared to 641 in July, says State Selective Service headquarters. Also in August draft quarters will be called on for about 1,134 men to take physical and mental examinations for future draft quotas.

Central City Opera Delights 13 Canyonites - - Kim Novak Too

Do you remember the story of Horace Tabor, money-prestige-mad historical figure in the fabulous Colorado mining era and the two women in his life, Augustus Tabor and Baby Doe? There are 13 people from Canyon who will probably never forget it.

Awed, impressed, enthusiastic but not speechless, 13 Canyonites returned home Sunday night from the World Premiere of "The Ballad of Baby Doe" at Central City, Colo. The premiere was praised by Denver Post writer Alex Murphy as a Central City triumph. By Allen Young, Denver Post music columnist, as forceful, original. But that's not all Canyonites saw and told. It was Central City's 25th Anniversary Festival with a "5-hour whing-ding," VIP's such as Kim Novak flocking into the old mining town, parties glitter and Monitor, television cameras and 25 music critics and columnists from the leading nation newspapers.

Here's the story from the people you know:

Mrs. H. R. Fulton Jr.: "It was very exciting—television, musical critics, Kim Novak, so much it was hard to see it all." She enjoyed the modern American music in the premiere and thought the cast did a wonderful job. "Don't miss 'The King and I' when it comes," she says. (Some of the group saw it in a new theatre).

Mrs. Ples Harper: "I was very well impressed. I choose to believe that 'The Ballad of Baby Doe' is an opera that will be permanent. I went expecting something effective because of the setting and story, but something temporary. I was a little bit surprised. I think this will last."

She explained that her surprise was in discovering the opera was based on development of character and had depth instead of being just a superficial story. She said that the first scene opened with lively folk music and colorful costumes (first bid was $45,000). As the opera became more emotional and intensified, music and lights were subdued and at the last was a vision created with guaze and music that had an unreal effect.

Crannell Tolliver: "So much should be said..." is Dr. Tolliver's expression. "One of the outstanding things to me was the effectiveness of an opera sung in English. To him 'The Ballad of Baby Doe' proves that America subjects can be a basis for opera. He and his wife especially enjoyed the intimate contact the cast had with the audience and the opportunity that the small theatre gave to see facial expressions."

Mrs. Floyd Tomlinson: "It was just wonderful. I am not particularly opera-minded, and the only operas Nancy and I had seen were those here in Canyon. We have all the books related to the ballad—Silver Dollar, Augustus's story... so we really enjoyed hearing and seeing the opera."

Edna Graham: "Did you know they gave carnation corsages to all the women in the audience?" Miss Graham thinks the opera was a true representative of the spirit of Central City and that people could have found no better way to preserve the history of that region.

Joy Gray: "I talked to and got an autograph from Kim Novak." She says she "Enjoyed the Ballad of Baby Doe tremendously, and says that she didn't even notice that the modern music was played until thinking about it after the premiere."

Mrs. John A. Williams: "There wasn't anything I didn't like about the premiere, and I wouldn't take $100 for the trip." She thinks the cast was well adapted to each other.

Debra McDonald: "I just can't begin to describe it in words." She was one of the few who completely enjoyed La Tosca, opera given on Saturday afternoon. "But she thinks the premiere was "magnificent," and that there were no weak characters. She was pleased because she had been fearful that the opera would be either dull or too modern.

Debra also talked to Kim Novak who had judged a pony express race. Debra asked Kim if the race had excited her and Kim replied that it had, and that off the stage, crowds always make her very nervous.

Lily Pons was reported in The Denver Post as wearing a stunning, pink, satin costume (she has auburn hair). Debra saw her in slacks and rubber soled shoes enjoying herself on the streets of Central City.

Mrs. Tommie Pierce, another member of the group, is in Tucson, Ariz.

Would you like a change? If you're one of a certain majority, here's one sure way to get it. If you have to wear eyeglasses for any reason — farsightedness, nearsightedness, an astigmatism, cataract or whatever — hide them from yourself for 24 hours. You'll find you're in an entirely different world.

One late afternoon last week, I dropped my only pair and shattered both lenses. In my case, that cuts out all close work. I couldn't look up a number, or even dial one, on the telephone. I could neither read, write, sew, cook much (because I'm tied to a recipe), nor clean house other than to straighten the surface areas.

By approaching traffic lights at a slower pace than usual, I could drive, so early the next morning I hastened down to get a new pair. "About 5 o'clock," the man said, as though doing me a special favor.

Back home I sat for a few minutes on the porch looking out at the backyard. I heard the morning noises — birds, the neighbor's lawnmower, children at play. I really saw our yard — the spots of color in the flower beds, the beauty of the spreading apricot tree. I looked at the evergreens, which had been there so long I no longer noticed their shapes. I walked around inspecting each flower.

Inside the house, I looked about as though I had never been there before. Gradually a new sense of well-being seeped in. I relaxed and went to sleep.

When the new glasses were ready, it was as though I had received a wonderful gift. And maybe I had — an awareness of how precious are the things, such as sight, which most of the time we take for granted.

Three Indians get ready to start playing the Indian Stick Game, one of the games which will be played during the first afternoon performance of the Palo Duro Indian Cere-monial.

NEWS LETTER FROM CONGRESSMAN WALTER ROGERS OF THE 18TH CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT

Federal Aid to Education

The House of Representatives has just concluded several days of heated debate on the bill that was designed to provide federal aid to education. This bill was a rather involved measure and included certain rules and regulations that were not, in my opinion, in keeping with the best democratic principles.

When the bill came before the House, it did not contain any reference limiting the eligibility of any state because of the failure of the state to comply with any Supreme Court decision. However, the "Powell Amendment" was added to the bill during House debate.

This amendment simply provided that a state did not comply with the Supreme Court decisions would not be eligible for federal funds. This had reference to the Supreme Court decisions on the question of racial segregation. One version of the "Powell Amendment" provided that the funds allocated to such a recalcitrant state should be held in escrow for a period of three years.

If during this three year period the said state should abolish segregation in its schools, then it would be eligible to receive the funds. Subsequent to the adoption of the "Powell Amendment," the "Gwinn Amendment" was offered by Congressman Gwinn of New York. This amendment would, in effect, permit each state to retain one per cent of its federal income tax, which said retained funds were to be used for school purposes.

This amendment was adopted. The effect of adopting the "Gwinn Amendment" was to knock out the "Powell Amendment," because there was no limitation on the right of a state to retain the one per cent of its income taxes. However, the "Powell Amendment" was again offered to another section of the bill and was adopted.

Then, on the final vote on all of the amendments, the "Powell Amendment," penalizing those states practicing segregation, was adopted. The "Gwinn Amendment," permitting the retention of one per cent of the federal income tax, was defeated.

But, in the final analysis, all of the heated debate, all of the parliamentary maneuvering, and all of the high blood pressure went for naught, because on the final vote the entire bill was defeated. This means that there will be no federal aid to education during this session of Congress.

Everyone agrees that every child should be given the opportunity for an education and should be required to avail himself or herself of that opportunity to the best of his or her ability. In this country these opportunities have always been afforded by the several states.

The problem of financing schools has been one of the major headaches of all communities. Greater in some and less in others. Much of the argument for the bill hinged upon the proposition that, unless federal funds were made available, many of the poorer school districts could not provide facilities, and that, therefore, many children would be denied an education.

No one doubts but that there are school districts in the United States that are in tragic financial distress; but these districts can be helped, either by the state in which they are located or by the federal government, without opening the door to federal control and the ultimate contribution to more centralization of government.

The federal government now provides funds for those districts in which it has taken land off the tax rolls of the school districts. It also provides aid in those districts where a federal installation has caused an increase in the school enrollment by reason of the children of federal employees being brought into the school districts.

These programs are fair and have worked well. Similar programs can be worked out to aid and assist the less fortunate school districts throughout this land. The right of a child to an education should not be measured on a dollars and cents basis.

However, it must be remembered that the concentration of power in a centralized government can provide the authority in that central agency which could be used to tamper with the thought processes of those to be educated.

This is a possibility that should be guarded against with great vigilance, because once the power to exercise thought control is vested in any one central power, a price far greater than the value of dollars and cents can be exacted from the populace.

Civil Air Traffic

The recent air tragedy that cost 128 lives has pointed up the great need for immediate action in the control of air traffic. This has long been a troublesome problem because more people are traveling by air each day. Our research and development in air travel has provided safe and comfortable planes and safe and comfortable land installations.

The problem that obviously has not received sufficient attention is the air traffic control problem. This problem has many facets and is one that is under the jurisdiction of the Interstate and Foreign Commerce Subcommittee, of which I am a Member, authorized to make a thorough investigation of all of the facts surrounding the tragedy in Arizona and to work out legislation that will provide an up to date and effective air traffic control that will avoid a recurrence of what happened over the Grand Canyon. Let us all hope and pray that those 128 unfortunate souls did not die in vain.

Attention Home Owners

Neighbors, today there are more modern homes that have septic tanks than ever before in the history of our nation. There has been no consideration given to the public for the treatment and care of septic tanks and grease traps.

We are all concerned with where the dangerous polio virus might be existing. According to medical science and bacteriologists, as long as we have proper bacteria reactions in our everyday life, plants and treatment of sewage, healthy and sanitary conditions will be maintained.

Anaerobic produced by the Capitol Sanitation Company of Austin, Texas, is now on the market and available to the public and cities for the treatment of sewage disposal. Capitol Sanitation laboratories have been serving cities throughout the United States with this product, and their technicians are ever searching for a condition that our product could not handle. Today we can say that we have been able to take care of most all of the problems of the treatment of septic tanks, city sewage lines and disposal plants for 17 years.

The septic tank is a device utilizing the theory of anaerobic digestion just as our large municipal sewage treatment plants practice, digestion just as our large municipal sewage treatment plants practice, however the septic tank is more subject to upsets due to the fact that the waste is from one household or establishment and not a mixture of wastes that may tend to counteract each other, becoming balanced by the time it reaches the city plant. In the septic tank an extra amount of bleaching material, strong acid, or alkalis may kill off certain strains of bacteria, and promote the growth of others, causing the contents to become out of balance and they cannot do their job (decompose the organic matter).

Grease (fats) are more difficult to break down than the bulk of waste entering the septic tank, the fat splitting bacteria get behind with their work, and the result is an accumulation of the grease floating in the top and reducing the digestion capacity of the tank. This grease will work out into the drain field and clog the pipe and this is usually when you have your tank pumped out. Of course, pumping is not the answer, for all you have done is to remove the already established micro-organisms. You have failed to correct the grease problem in the drain field and as soon as the tank becomes full or shortly thereafter, you will experience the same problem.

ANAEROBICUL is a mixture of cultured organisms developed for the express purpose of speeding up anaerobic decomposition of organic matter, and includes a fat splitting bacteria which aids in breaking down the grease to bring the septic tank back into proper balance.

ANAEROBICUL will hasten the seeding of new septic tanks by establishing action much sooner than will occur by natural purposes.

If your septic tank is overloaded ANAEROBICUL, by speeding action, will prolong the need for placing a new tank in operation. The culture would have to be introduced into the tank periodically, about every three months.

If your digestive system, septic tank or cesspool is working properly, not causing odors, draining good—you do not need ANAEROBICUL or any other product sold for the aid of digestion.

This is important! WHEN SOMEONE CALLS AT YOUR HOME WITH A TRUCK AND TELLS YOU THAT YOUR TANK IS ALMOST FULL, THAT IS CORRECT. IT HAS TO BE FULL TO BE FILTERING PROPERLY AND THE MOST HARMFUL THING YOU COULD DO WOULD BE TO HAVE IT PUMPED, FOR PUMPING DESTROYS THE MOST VALUABLE PART OF YOUR TANK. PUMPING DOESN'T CLEAN YOUR LINES OR ELIMINATE ODORS AND YOU PAY AN ENORMOUS PRICE FOR THE HARM DONE.

The most harmful substances you can put in your lines to open them are highly caustic chemicals which can be found on the market ranging in price from 10 to 35 cents a can under trade names which most people are familiar with. Proper bacteria reactions open lines and eliminate odors, also keep Tank Filtering properly.

Boggs Family Moves from Kress; Says Favorite Activity Is Sports

Last Sunday, the Andrew Boggs family who live at 1401 6th Ave., decided that the coolest way to enjoy a humid July afternoon was to stay inside and watch television. That is, all except Greg, five-year-old son, who couldn't decide whether to try to beat the heat or generate a little of his own in a game of cowboy and Indians.

The Boggs, Andrew or Andy, his wife, Arlene, and Greg, new residents of Sixth Avenue, moved here June 23 from Kress. They are busy getting acquainted and attending the First Baptist Church is one easy way they have found to meet people.

They were members of the First Baptist Church at Kress where Arlene was a member of the W.M.U. and choir. They had lived at Kress from six years while he was business manager of the Kress Public School System and acting city secretary.

Arlene, a tall, slender, attractive brunette, was working for the Southwestern Investment Company in Kress preceding the family's move to Canyon and had previously worked as a receptionist at the health clinic. She says she was quite fascinated by the receptionist's job because something "was always happening." At the lunch hour, the doctors, nurses and clinic workers ate in the dining room there, and Arlene says she enjoyed hearing the doctors talk about their work.

Sunday, Greg couldn't quite decide whether he wanted to play cowboys or Indians, so he put on his Indian beaddress and got his six-shooter for a compromise. A lively, energetic boy with a crew-cut and big grin, Greg has been making the rounds getting acquainted with the neighborhood. He has already discovered that when the "big boys" have some cinnamon oil, he doesn't want any.

Greg was a little unhappy about moving to Canyon and leaving all his friends, but after all, Canyon has a swimming pool, he was told, so that made things seem brighter.

He is definitely the live-wire of the family and has that never failing frankness of small boys. Once at a coffee that he and his mother attended, Arlene took coffee although she isn't a coffee lover. And sure enough, a few minutes later here came Greg saying, "Why, mommy, when did you learn to drink coffee?"

All the family like sports—fishing, basketball, football and swimming. The Boggs say they attended all the Kress ball games, some at Texas Tech and some at West Texas State.

Andy and Arlene have been married seven years. He was born in Tulsa and raised around Kress, graduated from Kress High School and attended Lippert's Business School in Plainview. Arlene's father, the Rev. Walter Brian, is a Baptist minister at Alamogordo, N. M. As a member of a preacher's family, she can claim a lot of different homes, but says Sudan and Littlefield, where she graduated from high school, are her Texas homes. Andy's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Rona Boggs of Kress.

Andy says it really keeps him busy getting used to the work here, but "I'm glad I have such swell people to work with . . . it makes it a lot easier." Andy says he was a little surprised that he had never heard anyone tell him that he wouldn't like living here. When one person asked him how he thought he would like living in Canyon, he said, "If it lives up to its reputation, it's bound to be awfully good."

Plan Annual Picnic At Variety Ring

Needlework took up the program of the Variety Ring meeting Thursday in the home of Mrs. Rae Walters.

Plans for the annual family picnic were made during the meeting. The picnic will be held Aug. 23 in the backyard of Mr. and Mrs. George Barker.

Mrs. K. E. Hines was made a new member of the club. Refreshments were served to Mrs. P. L. Pitts, Mrs. J. P. Hammons, Mrs. E. P. Harding, Mrs. Charles Hutchinson, Mrs. Levi Cole, Mrs. Win Matsler, Mrs. George Cox, Mrs. Barker, Mrs. Hines, Mrs. Maxwell and the hostess.

Lovegren Circle Meets for Study

The Lovegren Circle, First Baptist Church W.M.U., met Tuesday morning for monthly Bible study. Mrs. Edd Watkins was circle hostess.

Three guests were present. They were Mrs. Bryce Slack, Mrs. Arlene Boggs and Mrs. Bill Knighton. Members attending were Mrs. J. A. Hutto, Mrs. Horace Carter, Mrs. Martha Holton, Mrs. Tommy Tucker, Mrs. Durward Brown, Mrs. Luther Lawless and Mrs. Odell Frazier.

Wakefield B. Walker of Salem, Ore., arrived by plane last Thursday and visited his mother-in-law, Mrs. Jeannette Robbins, and his father, George Walker of Happy. Wakefield is state executive secretary of surplus commodity in Oregon. He left Canyon Monday to attend a state meeting in Miami, Fla.

Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Hughes and son, Lynn, of Alhambra, Calif., and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hughes and daughter, Laura Mae, of Morango Valley spent a week with Mr. and Mrs. Jim Carter. The men are Mrs. Carter's brothers. It was the first reunion of the three in 30 years.

Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Love and children of Tulsa, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Lehnick of Priona, Mrs. Nora Murphy, and Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Lehnick and sons were dinner guests in the Ray Fullerton home Saturday evening.

Mrs. W. I. Wester has returned home from a seven-weeks vacation in her home-state of Missouri. She visited in Springfield, Kansas City and Lebanon, Mo., in the Ozarks, and with a 90-year-old aunt who lives in Golden City, Mo. Mrs. Wester visited the Pleasant Ridge Cemetery and Church where she first attended school.

Spending the past week in Creede, Colo., were Mr. and Mrs. Joe Black, Mr. and Mrs. Hud Pritchard and Diane, and Wanda Rogers.

Refugees

Maybe you remember the Alex Adolfs, when they were telecast across the country as special guests of Macy's, in the New York City Thanksgiving Day parade of 1954. They had just arrived by air from Germany, where they had escaped from the Soviet Zone and had lived in a camp in West Germany until the Refugee Relief Program made possible their coming to America.

Recently the Boston Sunday Herald looked in on Alex, his wife, Lydia, twins, Ludwig and Liesbeth, and Nellie, Edith, Erwin and Irene. They are living happily in South Boston, the father working for a tunnel building firm.

Lithuanians, they were helped to this country by a Protestant group and are learning English with the help of Catholic School Sisters.

The adjustment of the Adolfs in little more than a year is another illustration of the importance of community and neighborhood cooperation in helping the resettlement of newcomers under the Refugee Program. Thanks to the helpful spirit of new-found friends, the Adolfs—says the Boston paper—"feel their American Thanksgiving parade hasn't ended and never will."—M. M. Richardson.

Around the Town...

By DOWIE CHERRY

Is it when the toaster burns out, the coffee boils over, the drain stops up, the kids come down with measles, the pay check won't meet payments, the radio goes co-dawg, the photograph player breaks just when there's a new record to play, the little one playing mommy breaks your favorite tube of lipstick, you wash a garment that should have gone to the cleaners, company for dinner in five minutes and there's no bread... as it then when we sigh, that's life?

Not really. We might meet with great doubt, that's life. But it's when Johnnie comes home with an all "A" report card, a cake comes out tasting like heaven and looking just like the magazine picture, little Margaret comes home from Sunday school singing, "Jesus loves me," the hybrid rose blooms in full glory, a group stands singing "America" and means every word of it, the baby starts saying, "Your children were angels," and hubby says, "You're a good cook, and I love you." That's life.

This may come as a shock to extreme modernists, but there are some things in life that simply don't need the modern touch. Things like all-day country singings.

It's the old-fashioned, homey quality that makes them what they are, and perhaps the reason why all-day singings are still held every year in some communities.

Sunday at the Fairview Church near Wayside, there was an all-day singing. I haven't heard how it turned out, but if it was anything like those of years before, everybody from the small fry to the grey-haired set had a grand time.

If you haven't attended at all-day singing, do sometime everybody singing the favorite hymns that don't change, some led by appointed singers, some sung by all men or mixed quartets with chords running all over the piano.

Women are to be dressed subtly, elegantly. In short, women are going to look like women. Isn't that a novelty? You have probably read about all the planned changes—bows, tabs, pleats, ruffles, the return to rustling silks—all added, but in good taste, for a softer style and even more comfortable, easier to move in clothes.

In a recent survey made by Manhattan's Bergdorf Goodman among New York women and reported in Time magazine, it is revealed that women "want something practical for the $4 billion that they spend a year on clothes. (Men, never mind. That's none of your business.)"

The article says, "They (women) disclaimed frills and gewgaws in favor of 'simple, good, classic lines,' feminine but not frilly."

romantic clothes." Women were thumbs down on barrel-sized hats and awkward sheath dresses. What's more, they complained that stores advertise "a dress on Sunday and are out of it on Monday." And of "high-pressure, pseudo-modern, impolite, disinterested," sales clerks and those who "call you 'dear' and tell you, 'But, madam, it's the fashion, everyone is wearing it.'"

Three cheers for the New York ladies.

Donald Oenslager who designed the costumes and settings for "The Ballad of Baby Doe" which recently had its world premiere at Central City, Colo., is assumed by Carl Mitchell of Canyon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tony Mitchell.

How's Come? The "A" and "T" in the Varsity Theater sign are bright red and the other letters are pink.

Cows lie down about 4:30 each day? Is this a characteristic of Texans? It's not peculiar just to Texas cows; Oklahoma cows do it too.

So much construction steel is painted orange? People plan a vacation months ahead, just a little time to get away and relax, and then on the vacation, drive all day, each day, like speed maniacs to see how many miles they can cover?

Americans like hot dogs and watermelon? We never really tell people how we are when they ask as a mere form of courtesy? Wouldn't someone be shocked if we did?

Americans refuse to learn foreign languages and demand that all other nationalities speak English? People like always to occupy the same pew at church? Children scream like they're on the verge of unbearable pain when scratched, and then can't wait to run down the block to show the bandage to all their playmates?

We say, "how's come?" Wives, next time you burn the toast, just be thankful you don't live in Egypt. All a husband has to do to get rid of his spouse is say "I divorce you" three times, and wife is a blinking Miss again, although I imagine the "blinking" is caused from emotion other than shyness.

What an electric storm there was in the wee hours of Saturday morning! It was one of nature's pandemonium concerts with an overly noisy dust of kettle drum and cymbals. It made quite a bit in a few spots around this area.

A conversation just didn't get started Saturday, especially at the grocery stores, unless someone mentioned the electric storm.

Some people are amazing. Someone would mention the electric storm, the other party would look blank and innocently ask, "What electric storm?" They had slept like babes through it all.

Some even got up to watch the fireworks. But most of us were in the party that thought the best place was in the bed, or under it, covers and pillow over our heads, shades and curtains pulled. On second thought, after seeing the bark one flash of lightning peeled off the tree at Third Avenue and 15th Street, I know it is.

But an ordinary summer storm can be an inspiring concert. Nature directing, it opens with an overture of rushing wind, the flutter of leaves... it builds to the climax with an increasing intensity.

of staccato rain rhythm against the earth... the deep kettle drum of thunder, cymbal crashes of lightning harmonized with alternate bursts of feverishly chirping and sighing clarinet winds.

Nature throws its arms and body inspired with her moment, pleading her orchestra for all its motive energy and her orchestra follows to a fearful fortissimo.

She began, Nature lifts her arms, folds them listening to a lulling conclusion... the cymbals touching with a dull ring in the ebony, black background, the kettle drums rolling pessimism, clarinets whispering... the rain rhythm is slurred and drowsy.

Nature is pleased, bows low to the heavens and a million pinpoints of glitter burst into applause... it was Nature's concert, her hit of glory with world at her fingertips... for her pleasure, the heavens applause... and oh, so minute and insignificant were others who may have heard.

Wayside News The Rev. Merle Weathers filled his regular appointment Sunday morning and was a dinner guest at the Henry Hamblen home.

Visitors in the Willie Modisette home last Sunday were Mrs. Jane Burk of Altus, Okla., Mrs. Beatrice Brawner, Canyon, and Larry of Amarillo, M. C. Sluder and Elva, Mr. and Mrs. E. V. Fowler, Lynn, Anne, Curtis and Kathy, all of Hays.

Brotherhood met at the church Tuesday night with Henry Hamblen at host. The Rev. Jeff McBeth of Salem was guest speaker.

Mr. and Mrs. Billy Jo Kennedy and Mary Kay of Canyon were supper guests with his aunt, Mrs. Viola Stockert, last Saturday evening.

Mrs. Lorraine Hutton of Tucuman, N. M., spent two weeks in the Jack Foster home helping with the work and caring for Mrs. Foster who was recently in a car accident and is still unable to walk due to a knee injury.

It was a happy bunch of small children who left Monday morning with Henry Hamblen for the Baptist encampment near Ralls for four days of fun. They were Jerry and Wayne Stevens, Royce Modisette, Richard Kennedy and Gale Watson.

The 4-H Club girls, Patsy and Nancy Schrib and Lorraine Newsum, with their leader, Joan Newsum, attended club camp at Panhandle the first part of the week.

An all-day soil bank meeting was held at Wayside Thursday. Our community was sorry to hear of the passing of another pioneer of the community, Miss Jessie Flaher passed away July 12 at 3 p. m. in the Shamrock hospital.

She had been in failing health for some time. Miss Flaher spent about 40 years as a missionary in India. She loved her work and regretted having to come back home due to her health.

The funeral was held in the Wayside Church July 14 at 3 p. m. She was laid to rest in the Wayside Cemetery where a number of her relatives are buried.

Keep Water Rates Low-It Pays Says Superintendent of Parks

Keeping water rates low will make for a more beautiful town or city, Mark Miles, superintendent of parks in Amarillo, said as he spoke to the Garden Club Thursday evening on the lawn of the W. A. Warren home.

"I can guess whether the water rate is high or low by conditions in the city," said Miles. He went on to say that it will pay the municipal government in the long run to see that water rates are held low—a more beautiful city, more resident attraction, more town pride.

In an approximate one hour discussion on shaping a bigger and better garden club, Miles outlined what a garden club can do to build possibilities which he said many cities such as Canyon had and were unrecognized.

He stressed that it is important to work with the municipal government. Through cooperative work with the municipal government, the garden club could work for control of species, planting and maintenance by the citizen group of street trees.

In the future as Canyon grows, Miles advises that the garden club keep on its toes for some type of park that is central to the community and see that the park then or now gets proper planting guided by planting authority.

With the assistance of the community government, the Canyon Garden Club needs to work with the highway department in securing better approaches to Canyon, Miles said. It is necessary to put your requests before the highway department; the department needs to feel your interest, he said.

Miles believes that there should be a community program for control of insects, not just for mosquitoes and flies, but for the majority of other insect pests. Individual control is expensive and there is a perpetual migratory problem. The red spider, a sample of which was produced by a Canyon Garden Club member, will in 80 degree weather multiply at the rate of 12,000,000 a month, Miles said.

Further steps outlined for club work by Miles were: 1. Encourage good commercial garden and nursery supplies within the city and talk with the supplier to understand his problems.

2. Encourage improving roses which actually give the most color and show. Learn about easy-to-grow-varieties and encourage planting and display.

3. Encourage a contest for beautiful lawn.

4. Encourage business houses to put in greenery along downtown square to break the monotony of masonry.

Miles concluded, "It is not easy if you want to accomplish anything you have to work hard, but it is rewarding for the expectations of the group."

REFRIGERATED AUTO AIR CONDITIONING

Yes, you really can step out of your car looking your best— even on the hottest day. This modern young woman does it. All of her smartness isn't in her looks... she's cool and dry. Windows are closed against wind and noise, dust or dampness.

While others arrive wind blown and humidly limp, she steps out as smoothly groomed as when she left her dressing table. She's at her best all summer long.

Makes a Mark IV auto air conditioner well worth considering, doesn't it? Only $295 or $345, plus installation. Excise tax already paid.

Home Canning Different Now

Can you remember when sealing wax was used to seal home canned goods and kettle boiling was about the only method of home canning? Mrs. Worth Jennings Sr., a long-time resident of Canyon who was reared in East Texas, can remember her mother using sheets of sealing wax at home canning time when tin cans came into use.

"My mother canned a lot," she says. Mrs. Jennings didn't follow her mother's precedent, though, because she and her husband felt that it was too expensive, especially if some of the food spoiled.

Her daughters do home canning though and as modern housewives have the benefit of knowledge, the result of research on food spoilage and canning methods, which enables them to know what they are doing, instead of using the try, hope and throw-out method which results in a mighty pale budget.

The Agricultural Extension Service of the Texas A&M College System and the United States Department of Agriculture recommends home canning as a fine method of preserving food for variety in the diet and being kind to the budget, and so, with the assistance of Dr. Sylvia Cover, professor in the Department of Rural Home Research, Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, they have compiled into a booklet a few lessons on home canning.

Are you in doubt when home canned foods look "funny" but finally end up serving it with the fear of ptomaine poisoning hanging over your head like a hatchet? This booklet lets you know what is a sign of spoilage and how to prevent "funny-looking foods."

Food dark at top of container? Steam food for length of time recommended. Have hot liquid of syrup over top of food when container is closed. Work air bubbles out of jar with a knife inserted along inside of the jar. Complete seal if necessary immediately after processing. Darkening is not in itself a sign of spoilage if seal is good.

Change of color throughout jar of foods—fading, uneven color, different color, darkening? Keep food cool after it is gathered and before it is canned. Use fresh young tender products. Use even-ly ripened fruit. Steam quickly for recommended length of time. Avoid contact of food with iron and copper utensils. Avoid over-processing. To prevent brownish discoloration in corn, use when at right milk stage (neither too young nor too old).

Pink to light purple color in canned apples and pears may be due to chemical changes in coloring matter of fruit. Fruit grown in very hot dry weather often turns pink. Water in some localities may cause color changes. Liquid or syrup dissolves some of the color of fruits and vegetables. Faded food is all right to eat if there is no gas or off-odor.

Jars of food not covered with liquid? Work out air bubbles with knife after product is steamed and before closing. Add more liquid if necessary to make a standard fill. Thoroughly exhaust canner before closing petcock. Maintain constant even pressure during processing of food. When canning in jars, allow pressure to return to zero before opening petcock.

Starch vegetables absorb more liquid than non-starch vegetables. Low liquid is not a sign of spoilage. Do not open container and refill with liquid as this would cause food spoilage.

Floating foods? Preheat or steam food as recommended to drive out air. Avoid over-ripe fruit. Avoid too heavy a syrup for fruit. Have good fill, have food hot when sealed and avoid over-processing. Too much air in cells of food may cause floating.

Yellow deposits? This cannot be prevented as far as was known at the time of the issuance of the booklet. It is thought to be due to soil and climatic conditions during growth. Yellow deposits which are found several weeks or six months after canning can be caused to dissolve or disappear if the container is shaken vigorously or heated. If there is no off-odor or unusual flavor, the food may be eaten without danger of poisoning if the food is safe otherwise.

The food is all canned and ready to store. How does it look?

FRUIT

Apples—should have held shape, have good color for type of apple and a clear syrup.

Applesauce—fine particles, no lumps. Color will depend on the amount of sugar and spices added.

Berries—full pack, shape held, uniform in size and degree of ripeness, good color for type of berry, clear syrup.

Cherries—shape held, good color, clear syrup.

Fruit juice—good color for type of fruit. No seeds or skin, fine even pulp.

Fruit puree—fine uniform particles, color characteristic of fruit used.

Grapefruit—sections held shape, even, light color, clear syrup.

Peaches, pears and apricots—pack halves in overlapping layers. The concave surface of each half is placed downward. Uniform size, shape held, color characteristic of fruit, unfaded, even ripeness, clear syrup. Not mushy from over-ripeness, over-cooking or flat sour.

Pineapple—uniform in size and color, no eyes or core, clear syrup.

Plums and prunes—uniform in size and color, even ripeness, shape held, good even color, clear syrup. Not mushy from over-ripeness or over-cooking.

Rhubarb—pieces hold shape and retain most of their color. Syrup slightly pink.

Tomatoes canned—even, rich color, packed in their own juice, seed visible.

Learning To Swim in the City Pool

"You're Linda, you're Gary..."

"What do you think is in my hand?"

Learning to swim is a frightening process, especially if the learner is still plenty young. At the city pool, manager Don Briggs begins with four and five year olds in the wading pool, but teaches several classes of older beginners and advanced swimmers.

With the little ones, the problem begins with getting acquainted, gaining their confidence and becoming a co-conspirator. That starts with saying each child's name over several times while pointing—back and forth across the group until each face is fixed with a name.

Next, the teacher must help the little ones to overcome their fear of water. He can't do it by simply telling the children that water won't hurt them. One way is to play a game in which each child puts his head under water and opens his eyes to see what the teacher has in his hand.

Later, after the children have grown and they're ready for bigger swimming in the bigger pool, the teaching of actual swimming begins—how to breathe properly, how to kick, how to use the arms, then how to use them all together. After six weeks—voila, a swimmer.

"Inhale, E-x-h-a-l-e."

and ceremonies. The pageant will be narrated by an Indian.

The chamber of commerce is hoping to gain the support of the entire citizenship of Canyon. The chamber asks that as many people as possible purchase tickets in advance so there will be some operating money for promotion and advertisement of the ceremonial throughout the Panhandle.

Tickets on sale are $1.50 for adults and 75 cents for children under 12.

Mr. and Mrs. George Patterson of Las Alamos, N. M., were in Canyon last week visiting the D. V. Shelnutt and other friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Carnes and children spent a few days last week with her mother, Mrs. Hattie Brasuel.

Mack Stallings of Napa, Calif., visited for a week with his daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Loudder.

Alby Ann Kuehler Wins $250 Scholarship From Texas Farm Bureau for 4-H Work

Alby Ann Kuehler, outstanding Randall County 4-H girl, has been named winner of a Texas Farm Bureau college scholarship valued at $250. Floyd Lynch, state 4-H leader, made the announcement and also named George Ohlendorf of Caldwell County as the boy winner of a similar award.

Miss Kuehler is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albin M. Kuehler of Route 1, Amarillo. She has completed her freshman year at West Texas State College where she is majoring in home economics. Her 4-H club career began nine years ago and demonstrations and activities have been added each year.

She has completed demonstrations involving clothing, food preparation, dairy foods, home improvement, junior leadership, livestock, shrub identification, food production and preservation, poultry, safety and wildlife conservation.

Her list of honors won is also impressive and includes the Gold Star, twice a district and once a 4th place state winner in dairy foods, county and district winner in dress revue, alternate for Talent Club and holder of many medals for county winnings.

Miss Kuehler is well known for her leadership ability which includes recreation. She twice has served her local club as president and reporter; also as reporter and treasurer of the county 4-H organization and has served as co-chairman of the district 4-H camp; as district representative on the Texas 4-H Council and as a member of the State Leadership Camp's planning committee. Last year she was an alternate for the Farm Bureau Scholarship. Her work in church, community and school affairs also brought her recognition.

Last spring she represented Texas 4-H club members at the annual conference of Young Outdoor Americans at Sioux City, Iowa. This conference was sponsored by the Izaak Walton League of America. Her interest in conservation, especially wildlife, along with her ability as a leader were prime factors in gaining this recognition for her.

In commenting on Alby Ann's record, Mrs. Mona Hildreth, Randall County home demonstration agent, said, "Alby never gives up. She sets high goals and works hard to reach them. She has been outstanding as a leader in 4-H club work in the county."

Her mother credits 4-H training as a deciding influence on Alby's choice of home economics as her chosen field for college study.

Mrs. Max Hoffman and Mrs. A. H. Lindemann, both of Umlinger, have been her adult leaders and through the years have given assistance and encouragement to their outstanding member.

PURINA'S 10 OLD COWS!

Twelve thousand visiting farmers annually see the "parade of 10 old cows" at Purina's Gray Summit, Missouri, farm.

These 10 cows, ranging in age from 9 yrs. 7 mos. to 14 yrs. 8 mos., have produced a total of over 1,000,000 lbs. of milk. They're just farm cows but they teach a lesson any dairyman can appreciate...the value of feeding rations which maintain the cow as well as make milk. They demonstrate the extra vitality, calves, and years of production good dry cow feeding makes possible.

Old cows produce income long after they've paid back the cost of raising them. The extra calves they produce are valuable as replacements or veal. Feeding cows the Purina Way helps provide the nutrients cows need not only to produce through a single lactation but to come back year after year...like Purina's 10 old cows...and make money for their owners!

Mixed 50-50 with oats, Purina Bulky-Las makes a low-cost dry cow ration designed to help cows calve easily, breed regularly, stay in the herd year after year.

Haley Continues Downstate Stump

With less than two weeks remaining before the July 28 Democratic Primary, J. Everett Haley, Canyon cowman-historian candidate for governor, continues explaining his position on Federal encroachment of states rights.

Last week in San Antonio, Haley told a meeting that voluntary integration as favored by his opponents means the same as forced integration, Haley said.

"The average honest Texan is beginning to see through the 'forced integration' smoke screen that both Price Daniel and Ralph Yarborough have tried to spread over the school issue.

"This issue cuts to the marrow of States Rights and constitutional government.

"Both candidates say they oppose what they call 'forced integration' but I am going to show you here and now that they propose to see our birthright for nothing—not even a mess of potage.

"For Ralph and Price to oppose forced integration means that they look with favor on voluntary integration, and here is the criminal law in that gimmick: voluntary integration means forced integration.

"Over in Seguin where the school board has just voted voluntary integration, the board explains that it is opening the top three grades of Seguin public schools to Negroes on a voluntary basis. Negroes can integrate if they want to.

"But what of the white children? What choice is given them and their parents in the matter? Apparently none at all!

"Voluntary integration for the Negroes therefore means forced integration for the Whites and there is no way of squirming out of that bald fact.

"This shoddy trick being pulled on us by Daniel, who probably does not even see through it yet, and by Yarborough, who may think he is smarter than the average Texan, now stands out clearly for all to see.

"I am the only candidate who has the answer to this question. As Governor I will uphold my oath of office in seeing that the laws and constitution of Texas are observed. Texas will interpose its right under the American constitution to run Texas affairs.

"Texas will not be hoodwinked by the NAACP which argues that forced segregation is unconstitutional. Is not forced integration also unconstitutional?"

Mrs. Clarence Stallings left Tuesday for a few days visit with her daughter's family, the Charles Marshalls of Portales, N. M., before going to Siloam Springs, Ark., for an extended visit with her sister, Mrs. J. T. Sykes.

Lt. and Mrs. Bill Perry from Würzburg, Germany, arrived in Canyon Sunday night. They are visiting Mrs. Perry's mother, Mrs. Gladys Haines, and other relatives. Lt. Perry reports the last of this month to Fort Hood.

BOYCE HOUSE

Last summer, while resting to get rid of a cold, I finally got around to reading Herodotus. This ancient writer gives many an interesting insight into human nature and unfolds many intriguing stories. He tells of a ruler who, for 11 consecutive years, invaded the territory of the Milesians when the crops were ripe, "marching to the music of pipes, harps and treble and tenor oboes." He did not destroy the houses because he wanted the Milesians to have a place to live so he could come back and plunder them the next year!

Thales of Miletus predicted an eclipse to the very day. Apparently nobody had taken his prophecy seriously for two armies were in the midst of battle when darkness suddenly covered the earth. They quit fighting and made peace.

On another occasion, two armies were facing each other and one of the leaders said there was no reason for thousands to die; why not select 300 men from each side and let them fight it out? This made sense to the opposing commander. The only drawback was, after the 600 had finished fighting (all but three were killed)—the leaders disagreed as to who had won, so the armies fought, anyway.

The Persians, whose empire was the greatest of its day, considered telling lies more disgraceful than anything else.

A worshipper could not pray for any personal or private blessing "but only for the king and for the general good of the community, of which he himself was a part."

Herodotus also tells us, of the Persians, "Themselves they consider in every way superior to everyone else in the world and allow other nations a share of good qualities decreasing according to distance, the further off being, in their view the worst."

Cyrus the Great captured Croesus, richest ruler of earth, and the fallen king became a trusted adviser. He once remarked to Cyrus, "In peace, sons bury fathers; but, in war, fathers bury sons." And Cyrus, on one occasion, declared, "Soft countries breed soft men; it is not the property of any one soil to produce fine fruits and good soldiers, too."

I have never been able to see "the man in the moon." Whatever happened to "oyster loaf?"

Fairview Breezes

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Wesley of Fort Worth visited Monday and Monday night with Mark's sister and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. John McGehee.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Foster are the proud parents of a new daughter born Wednesday in Tulsa hospital.

J. W. Wesley lost an irrigation motor and gearhead when in some mysterious way the truck that was filling it caught fire and burned. Luck was with the man that was operating the truck as he escaped with slight burns on hands and face and a cut on the hand.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Stoneberg and sons of Chicago are moving back to Fort Worth.

Visitors in the J. W. Wesley home Wednesday evening were Mr. and Mrs. Mark Wesley of Fort Worth, Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Wesley, Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Wesley, Mrs. Ella Hext and Lavena Amerson.

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Wesley returned to Fort Worth Friday. Mrs. Dora Walters and Mrs. Wesley's mother went with them for a few weeks visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Billie Jo Hall are the proud parents of a son, Billie Joe, born July 3.

Our third Sunday singing was well attended and we enjoyed the singing very much. Visitors from Claude, Amarillo, Tulsa, Plainview and Lone Star were welcomed.

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Wesley visited Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rogers Tuesday.

We wish to thank the neighbors and especially the Happy Fire Department for their prompt response to our recent fire. Good neighbors are appreciated at a time like that.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rogers are entertaining their grandchildren, Jack Pawlawn, Art and Connie, while their mother is in the hospital.

The home demonstration club will meet Friday afternoon with Madge Sutton.

Bowie Wesley has been attending scout camp in New Mexico the past 10 days.

Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Wesley and D. R. were visiting and gathering wild plums at the L. H. Barnard ranch Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Hill Smith and boys of Amarillo attended the singing at Fairview Sunday and later visited with the J. W. Wesleys.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Helms of Claude attended the singing and visited with Mrs. Helms' parents, the John McGehees.

E. E. and Arlen Wesley of the W. W. Electric Company of Littlefield were in the J. W. Wesley home Saturday.

Bettie and La Quita Patterson visited their parents, the John Pattersons, over the weekend. Bettie is working in Marie's Beauty Salon in Canyon, and La Quita is a secretary in Amarillo.

Pete Garcia's mother and sister of Littlefield visited Pete and Maria Sunday.

Tom — I understand, old man, you hold divers stocks.
Bill — You said it — they are divers sure enough.

Parties Fete Future Bride

Frances Cunningham, bride-elect of John Petry, has been complimented recently with two bridal parties.

Saturday at 1 p. m., she was the honoree at a luncheon given by Mrs. James B. Johnson. An arrangement of pink and majestic white daisies centered the table where Miss Cunningham was presented with a gift of lingerie.

Attending were the bride-elect and her mother, Mrs. A. M. Cunningham, Fanita Marshall, Bettie Graham, Billie Graham, Mrs. Ray Burrus and Mrs. Bill Cherry.

Tuesday evening at 7:30, Mrs. A. B. Holt and Mrs. Walter Graham were hostesses for a cup-towel hemming party in honor of Miss Cunningham.

An arrangement of white daisies backed with greenery decorated the entertainment room. Friends of the bride-elect were served frosted cakes and sandwiches.

And He Received Pajamas and . . .

John Petry, another single fellow forsaking bachelorhood, was the "chief stag" at a stag personal shower given Saturday evening in the home of George Blackwell.

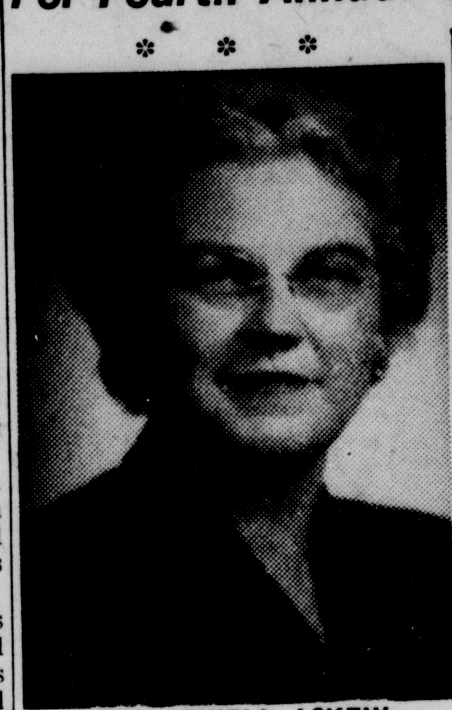

He was showered with lounging pajamas and . . . other things. Hosts were George Blackwell, Hugh Greiner Jr., Grady Davis and James Johnson.

"Stags" present were John, the Rev. Strauss Atkinson, Gene McGlasson, Battle Harris, Joe Streun, George Greiner, A. M. Cunningham and A. B. Holt.

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

The supervisors of the Randall Potter Soil Conservation District approved cooperative agreements with the following farmers: C. R. Garner Jr., Dudley Moore Jr., Lloyd Hicks Jr., Arnold Stengel and C. V. Conatser.

These farmers are cooperating with the district by (1) using the land within its capabilities, (2) treating their land in keeping with its needs, (3) developing as rapidly as feasible a conservation plan for his entire farm, (4) applying one or more conservation practices in keeping with the above objectives and the technical standards of the district, and (5) maintaining all structures established in an effective condition and to continue to use all other conservation measures put into effect.

The district agreed to furnish the farmer such information, technical assistance and supervision, and other assistance as it may have available at the time the work is to be done in carrying out a conservation plan.

The technical assistance and supervision is furnished the district by the Soil Conservation Service with offices in the courthouse.

POOR JUDGE

A stern hatchet-faced woman entered the office and demanded to see the chief. "Is she good-looking?" the boss asked the office boy.

"Yes, sir—beautiful."

"Then show her up."

After the woman's departure the boss sent for the office boy. "You're a nice judge of beauty," he said, irritably.

"Well, sir," apologized the boy, "I thought she might be your wife."

"She is," snapped the boss.

HAZLEWOOD SUPPORTS FARM INTERESTS

Excerpts from Grain Producers News
Indicate Farm Support

No one will deny that there is a distinct advantage in having Legislators . . . with interests common to ours. Mr. Hazlewood . . . has demonstrated his intense interest in the problems of the High Plains Farmer.

Mr. Hazlewood was chairman of the subcommittee that killed the attempts to take away the gasoline tax refund to farmers and other non-highway users. He vigorously opposed and helped kill the underground irrigation water bill which would have compelled every farmer to go to Austin for permits to drill wells, as well as show . . . that water is going back into the ground as fast as it is being taken out.

Dr. J. A. Hill, writing for a Panhandle newspaper, said of Grady Hazlewood, "As a member of our highest state lawmaking body, Grady Hazlewood has far more courage than the average. He is not clay in the hands of self-seeking potters. He has convictions and stands by them . . . He has great faith in the common people. Born and reared in a farm and ranch environment . . . he understands the minds and hearts of the people he serves . . ."

"A PROVEN RECORD IS A GOOD THING TO TIE TO" . . . VOTE FOR THE RE-ELECTION OF SENATOR HAZLEWOOD - JULY 28!

PORTER L. OAKES

AN OPEN LETTER TO PEOPLE WITH OPEN MINDS . . .

Dear Friends:

I should like to wholeheartedly endorse the candidacy of Porter L. Oakes as State Representative from District 94-F comprising Randall, Potter, Carson and Armstrong Counties.

Entirely without solicitation and certainly without reservation, I am endorsing Porter Oakes' candidacy on the basis of close hand observation of his work in behalf of the people of the Panhandle and would like to ask your vote and support. It is my firm belief that he is an unwavering supporter of good government at the grass roots. He is well versed in the mechanics of government at the state level and has had extensive experience in this field.

I think Oakes will make as strong a legislative member as the home folks could choose to work for the best interest of this area.

Signed: Bill Andis
State Representative
District 94-F
